

“Exploring Pathways to a Positive Future”

Inland Northwest Permaculture Conference

November 4-6, 2011 🌻 Spokane, Washington
Spokane Falls Community College

- 🌿 Thursday evening talk
- 🌿 Friday field trips
- 🌿 Speakers
- 🌿 Dozens of workshops
- 🌿 Panels & round-table discussions
- 🌿 Hands-on activities
- 🌿 Trade Show
- 🌿 Contra Dance

- 🌿 Bringing together permaculture people from around the Inland Northwest to exchange information and increase collaboration.
- 🌿 INPC invites people who are working towards a positive future in related fields to share your success stories and learn from others:
- 🌿 A great opportunity for people who are new to permaculture.
- 🌿 Spokane residents are especially invited to share, learn and design a more positive future for Spokane and environs.
- 🌿 Permaculture is a whole-systems approach that can be applied to design problems at any scale – from your back yard garden to a regional plan. Can you envision a living landscape that collects and cleans water, builds nutrient-rich soil, supports a variety of wildlife AND produces an abundance of food, fuel and other resources throughout the year? Permaculture also addresses the built environment, energy, local economies and social systems.
